To Whom It May Concern,

If you need a generator installed at your house, you should turn to Bill Uhr of MAX Energy Systems. We did and we could not be more pleased with our recently installed Cummins-Onan whole-house generator.

Bill will help you select the generator that best suits your needs, suggest the best way to install it, and do so in a manner that is most convenient to your schedule. He personally will attend to every stage of the installation and testing process. He will supervise the installation team, pay attention to every detail, and comply with all of your requirements.

Bill will assure that all permits and authorizations required by the city or county are obtained, coordinate all inspections and tests, and take care of any concern that might arise. You will never have to communicate with anybody but Bill.

For all these reasons we consider Bill Uhr a true professional in the business of home backup generators. It will be my pleasure to serve as a reference for Bill and his company.
